This photo essay captures the work of Project Keshet, an organization helping to transform the lives of Jewish women and their communities in Ukraine, Russia, Belarus, Moldova, Georgia, and Kazakhstan through Jewish education and social activism. The photos skillfully captured by Joan Roth portray the empowerment of “ordinary” women creating extraordinary change.

Opening Reception: Join UJC MetroWest and Project Keshet for an evening with photographer Joan Roth as we journey to Ukraine through this moving photography exhibit and testimony.

UJC MetroWest annually supports the work of Project Keshet, among a variety of social service and Jewish cultural programs, in our partner city of Cherkassy. The Ukrainian city of Cherkassy is UJC’s focal point in addressing the needs of the Jewish communities of the former Soviet Union.
